

NONHLEVU SECONDARY SCHOOL

R102 Old Main Road

Groutville, Kwa-Dukuza, 4450

E-MAIL ADDRESS: nonhlevusecondaryschool@gmail.com

HISTORY SOCIAL SCIENCE Term 3 Controlled Test 2026

NATIONAL SENIOR CERTIFICATE

Grade 8

MARKING GUIDE

EXAMINER : T.S Vilane
MODERATOR : M.Ntanzi
MARKS : 50 Marks
DATE : September 2026
DURATION : 1 Hours

SECTION AQUESTION 1*1.1

- 1.1.1 a) "Scramble for Africa" is the invasion, occupation, colonization (2) and annexation of African territory by European powers during the period of New Imperialism, between 1881 and 1914.
It is also called the Partition of Africa and the Conquest of Africa. ✓✓
The European rush to take over Africa and exploiting their mineral resources.
- b) Colonisation is when one country takes control of another (2)
country ✓✓
- 1.1.2 The Berlin Conference, held from November 15, 1884, to February (2)
26, 1885, was a diplomatic meeting where European powers negotiated the rules for the colonisation and partition of Africa. ✓✓
- 1.1.3 Otto von Bismarck ✓ (1)
- 1.1.4 The Berlin Conference was held in Berlin, Germany. ✓ (1)
- 1.1.5 To divide Africa amongst the European powers. ✓ (1)
- 1.1.6 Britain ✓ (1)
Germany
France
Portugal
Italy
Belgium

[9]1.2

- 1.2.1 Industrial Revolution ✓ (3)
Demand for raw material ✓
Need for market ✓
More mineral
Improve their power.
Improve the European economy.
Expand their territory.
- 1.2.2 Technological advancements enabled European powers to explore (1) and establish trade routes to distant lands. ✓
This technological superiority gave them a military advantage over indigenous populations and facilitated the colonisation process.

- 1.2.3 • Innovations such as the steam engine revolutionized transportation, making it easier and faster for Europeans to travel to and within Africa. ✓ (1)
- The development of the telegraph allowed for faster communication between Europe and its colonies, aiding in the administration and coordination of colonial activities.
 - Advances in weaponry, including rifled guns and machine guns gave European forces a significant technological advantage over African armies.
 - The Industrial Revolution created a demand for raw materials, which Africa could provide. European industrialists sought to exploit Africa's resources to fuel their factories and economies.
 - European industries needed new markets to sell their manufactured goods. Colonising Africa allowed European powers to access new consumer markets.
 - The need to extract resources and manage colonies led to the construction of infrastructure, such as railways and ports, which facilitated the exploitation and administration of African territories.
 - Industrialised nations competed for global dominance, and acquiring colonies was seen as a way to enhance national prestige and power. Industrialisation also supported missionary efforts to convert African populations to Christianity, often justifying colonial expansion as a civilising mission.
 - Advances in scientific knowledge and mapping made it feasible for European powers to claim and control vast territories.
(Any other relevant answer)

- 1.2.4 Missionaries accompanied explorers and settlers, aiming to Christianise and "civilise" natives ✓✓ (2)

[7]

1.3

- 1.3.1 Britain ✓ (1)
- 1.3.2 South Africa; ✓ Botswana; ✓ Rhodesia; British East Africa; Egypt; Nigeria; Uganda (Any TWO correct answers) (2)
- 1.3.3 Ethiopia ✓
Liberia (1)
- 1.3.4 Late entry into colonisation efforts, ✓
Geopolitical constraints
Historical focus on other regions for colonial expansion and economic interests. (Any valid reason) (1)

1.4

- 1.4.1 It tells us that foreign countries like in Europe and North America took the wealth of Africa and enriched their countries. ✓ (1)
- 1.4.2 North America ✓ (1)
- 1.4.3 African political structures were often dismantled or manipulated to serve colonial interests. ✓ (1)
Indigenous rulers were replaced or co-opted into colonial administrative systems, leading to the erosion of traditional governance structures.
- 1.4.4 It led to demographic changes due to forced labour, migration. Introduction of new diseases. ✓ (2)
Social hierarchies were also reshaped based on racial classifications imposed by colonial powers. ✓
- 1.4.5 Rivalries between different African leaders. ✓ (2)
Natural disasters. ✓
The invention of machine gun.
New diseases.
(ANY ONE RELEVANT ANSWER)

[7]

1.5

- 1.5.1 Ghana. ✓ (1)
- 1.5.2 Gold. ✓ (1)
- 1.5.3 They were fierce fighters. ✓ (1)
- 1.5.4 "If I go forward I die. If I go backward I die. Better go forward and die." ✓ (1)
- 1.5.5 This book encouraged the British to become interested in the West Coast as a future colony. ✓ (1)
- 1.5.6 • Colonisation disrupted the Ashanti Kingdom's economy by redirecting trade routes and resources to benefit European powers. ✓ (2)
• The Ashanti, known for their gold production, saw their resources exploited for European gain, contributing to economic dependency and disruption of local industries. ✓
• Colonisation introduced Christianity and Western education to the Ashanti Kingdom, leading to shifts in religious beliefs and cultural practices.
• Colonial policies often suppressed or marginalised indigenous cultural traditions, impacting social structures and identities.

- British colonisation intensified conflicts and rivalries between the Ashanti Kingdom and neighbouring states.
 - British colonisation led to the imposition of indirect rule over the Ashanti Kingdom, where local rulers were allowed to govern under British oversight.
 - Traditional political structures were altered and this weakened the authority of the Ashanti monarch (Asantehene), while integrating the kingdom into the British colonial administration.
 - British colonisation disrupted traditional trade patterns of the Ashanti Kingdom by redirecting resources, such as gold and agricultural products, to British markets.
 - This contributed to economic exploitation and dependency, disadvantaging the Ashanti economically.
 - Colonisation had lasting impacts on the Ashanti Kingdom, contributing to economic underdevelopment, social disruption, and cultural assimilation.
 - The legacy of colonialism continues to influence Ghana's socio-political landscape, including issues of governance, identity, and economic inequality.
- (Any other relevant answer)

[7]

SECTION B

QUESTION 2

Introduction — 2 marks

Award marks for an appropriate introduction that shows understanding of the question.

Possible answer:

European countries colonised Africa during the late nineteenth century for a number of economic, political, religious and medical reasons. Colonial rule later had major political, economic and social consequences for African societies.

- Relevant introduction to the topic — 1
- Indicates that both causes and results will be discussed — 1

Supporting Paragraphs — 11 marks

Learners should discuss relevant causes and results. Award 1 mark for each relevant, correctly explained historical fact, up to a maximum of 11 marks.

Causes of European colonisation may include:

- European countries wanted access to African raw materials such as gold, diamonds, rubber, cotton, cocoa and ivory.
- European factories required a continuous supply of raw materials.
- European countries wanted new markets in Africa where manufactured goods could be sold.
- Colonies provided opportunities for European businesses to make profits.
- Nationalism encouraged European countries to compete for colonies.
- Possessing colonies was regarded as a sign of wealth, power and prestige.
- Christian missionaries travelled to Africa to spread Christianity.
- Missionaries also encouraged the adoption of European customs and ways of life.
- The discovery and use of quinine made it safer for Europeans to survive malaria and travel further into Africa.

Results of colonisation may include:

- Africans lost control of large areas of their land.
- European colonial governments controlled African natural resources.
- Raw materials were exported to Europe and used for European economic benefit.
- Many Africans were forced into wage labour.
- Africans often worked for very low wages.
- Colonial rule created an unequal economic relationship that benefited European businesses.
- European powers created artificial borders that did not always follow existing African political communities.
- Some colonial borders later contributed to political and economic instability.

- Africans were pressured to adopt European languages, customs and culture.
 - African religions and traditions were often regarded as inferior.
 - Colonialism contributed to the development of racism and racial prejudice.
 - Africans lost much of their political independence and control over their territories. .
- Causes , Rapid Conquest & Results of Colonisation.pdfPDF

Maximum for supporting paragraphs: 11 marks

Conclusion — 2 marks

Possible answer:

In conclusion, Europeans colonised Africa mainly because they wanted resources, profits, power and influence. Colonisation had long-lasting consequences for Africans, including the loss of land and resources, exploitation, artificial borders, cultural changes and racial inequality.

- Appropriate summary of the causes — 1
- Appropriate summary of the results/consequences — 1

[15]

